

Dear Dr. Friedmann,

I am writing to convey my support for the exceptional work done by the Georgia International Law Enforcement Exchange (GILEE). This outstanding program makes a tremendous contribution at a time when the value of police leadership training has never been more important to our society. GILEE is internationally recognized as providing the most up to date evidence-based instruction in public safety practices demanded by law enforcement officials both here and abroad. As the co-editor of the Oxford University Press International Policy Exchange series, I am continually impressed by the scientific benefits and mutual learning generated in the course of international professional exchanges, the kind of academic activity for which GILEE sets the standard in the field of law enforcement.

Sincerely,

Neil Gilbert
Chernin Professor of Social Welfare
University of California, Berkeley
Berkeley, California 94720
ngilbert@berkeley.edu