To Whom It May Concern:

I write in support of the Georgia International Law Enforcement Exchange (GILEE) Program. Created and directed by Dr. Robert Friedmann, an emeritus professor of criminal justice, and based at the Andrew Young School of Policy Studies at Georgia State University, the program is now in its 28th year. During its nearly three decade-long existence, GILEE has performed a valuable service by training law enforcement personnel from many jurisdictions throughout the United States and from other countries as well. These exchanges have benefitted law enforcement agencies both here and abroad as the many testimonials to the GILEE program and awards bestowed on it and its founding director evidence.

Yours sincerely,

Professor Bruce Hoffman
